

Symposium on "Contemporary Regulatory Scenario in Pharmacovigilance" - (PV2014)

March 5, 2014

Centre for Translational & Clinical Research
Jamia Hamdard, (Hamdard University), New Delhi - 110062

The focus of reporting of adverse events is primarily on patients well being. The changes which have happened in the recent past about reporting of serious adverse events (SAEs) and compensation during trial related injury have been milestones in the history of Indian Regulations. Pharmacovigilance (PV) has taken a centre stage in patient well being efforts in last few years. The proposed Symposium (PV2014) would provide a platform for live discussion on newer trends in pharmacovigilance in Indian as well as International regulatory system. At this Symposium we aim to bring experts from the spectrum of backgrounds for exchange of ideas and experiences and networking.

Key themes

- Newer Regulations and Pharmacovigilance
- Compensation during Clinical Trials
- Causality Assessment
- Risk Management
- Reporting of Serious Adverse Events during Post-marketing Surveillance and Clinical Trials
- Pharmacovigilance Programme of India (PvPI)
- Comparison between Indian and Global PV Guidelines
- Career Opportunities in PV

Detail of Programme shall Follow Soon at
