

Managing Editor's Note

It is with great pleasure that we present to you the second volume of the HILSR Law Review. Building upon the foundation laid by our inaugural issue, this volume reflects the continued growth of the journal as a platform for rigorous academic engagement and thoughtful legal scholarship. The response to our first volume has strengthened our resolve to broaden the scope and depth of the discourse we seek to foster.

This issue brings together an expanded range of contributions, with submissions now accepted not only as full-length Articles and Book Reviews but also as Case and Legislative Comments, allowing authors to engage more directly with recent judicial pronouncements and emerging legislation. As with our first volume, every submission has been carried through a rigorous double-blind peer-review process, ensuring that the scholarship featured here meets the highest standards of academic integrity. The journal continues to remain open to diverse fields of law and we are glad to see contributors engaging with both doctrinal and interdisciplinary approaches to contemporary legal questions.

We extend our sincere gratitude to our contributors for entrusting us with their scholarship, to our external reviewers for their diligent and constructive evaluation and to our dedicated student editorial team for their tireless efforts in bringing this volume to fruition. Their commitment throughout the review, vetting and publication process has been instrumental in upholding the quality that the HILSR Law Review aspires to.

As we move forward, we remain steadfast in our mission to serve as an inclusive and rigorous platform for legal scholars, practitioners and students alike. With each volume, we hope to deepen the HILSR Law Review's contribution to legal thought and we look forward to continuing this journey of academic discovery with our readers and contributors in the volumes to come.

Dr. Abhishek Gupta

Managing Editor, HILSR Law Review